VICTORY AND PEACE!

KAISER ABDICATES AND FLEES TO HOLLAND

WILDEST ENTHUSIASM PREVAILING THROUGHOUT ENTENTE COUNTRIES

Victory—and peace. After more than four years of struggle the rights of mankind are saved.
The greatest day in the history of nations has dawned.
The German militaristic classes—arrogant beyond expression—are in defeat.

The Kaiser and the Crown Prince in flight, refugees in an Allied country—German kings and potentates no longer held their sway.

The allied armies are triumphant. Imperialistic Germany has met the fate that ultimately must come to any country that seeks to rule the world....Deserted by her Allies, Germany on her knees, is accepting terms of capitulation, which amounts virtually to abject surrender.

Except for hostile military invasion, the once great European power, the ambition of the monarch of which was to dominate over all, is in complete defeat.

Beaten on the field of battle, the edict of the allied chief command is that the German armies shall retire into their own homeland from all invaded territory. Impotent as the German armies shall be, also as impotent shall be the German fleet. Colonies are lost and the hand that sought to reach out and attain additional territory is withered by the ruling of the supreme war council at Versailles....Reparation and restitution, in fact, full compensation of all kinds, is to be made by Germany for all the disaster that has followed her armies and those of her allies throughout the world war.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Armistice terms have been signed by Germany, the state department announced at 2:45 o'clock this morning.

There was no announcement as to whether hostilities had ceased, or the hour at which they would cease.

The state department's announcement simply said: "The armistice has been signed."

Washington, Nov. 11.—This announcement was made by the state department at 2:50 this morning. The announcement was made verbally by an official of the state department in this form:

"The armistice has been signed. It was signed at five o'clock a.m. Paris time, and hostilities will cease at 11 o'clock this morning, Paris time.

There was no information as to the circumstances under which the armistice was signed, but since the German courier did not reach German military headquarters until ten o'clock yesterday morning, French time, it was generally assumed here that the German envoys within the French lines had been instructed by wireless to sign the terms.

Forty-seven hours had been required for the courier to reach German headquarters and unquestionably several hours were necessary for the examination of the terms and a decision. It was regarded as possible, however, that the decision had been made at Berlin and instructions transmitted from there by the new German government.

Germany had been given until 11 o'clock this morning, French time, 6 o'clock Washington time, to accept. Hostilities will end at the hour set by Marshal Foch for a decision by Germany for peace or for continuation of the war.

The momentous news that the armistice had been signed was telephoned to the White House for transmission to the President a few minutes before it was given to the newspaper correspondents. Later it was said that there would be no statement from the White House at this time.

The terms of the armistice, it was announced, will not be made public until later....Military men here, however, regard it as certain that they include immediate retirement of the German military forces from France, Belgium, and Alsace Lorraine.

Disarming and demobilization of the German armies. Occupation by the allied and American forces of such strategic points in Germany as will make impossible a renewal of hostilities.

Delivery of part of the German high seas fleet and a number of submarines to the allied and American naval forces.

Disarmament of all other German warships under the supervision of the allied and American navies which will guard them.

Occupation of the principal German bases by sea forces of the victorious nations.

Release of allied and American soldiers, sailors and civilians held prisoners in Germany without such reciprocal action by the governments.

BUCKING THE KAISER

In the good old western style.

Wise Ones Are Buying Victory Bonds

The people of southern Alberta know how to make good use of an opportunity when it is put before them. This is proven by the enormous number of subscriptions that are being made to the Victory Loan, and this in spite of the fact that the organizations in many places have been very severely handicapped by illness, not only amongst the committees in charge of the work, but also amongst the members of the organizations.

To the average person the idea of lending is to do a favor. But buying a Victory Bond bears 5 1/2 per cent interest and exempt from income taxation is not a favor. It is a business proposition, with the advantage all in favor of the buyer. And it will be because it is good business, and not because they are doing favors to any one—except themselves—that our people are buying to their capacity. And the nearer we are to peace the better and the more attractive the proposition.

The canvassers who are bringing in the best results are those who make the campaign slogan "Invest instead of lend."

Everything points to southern Alberta today reaching the ultimate objective. Eight and a half millions by the time the campaign closes on November 15, for before the campaign was half way through the amounts subscribed had already gone over six million dollars. It is unfortunate that some people will be apt to miss the chance of getting in their subscriptions owing to illness in their families, but canvassers are taking the best possible care they can to give everybody a chance. Up until Thursday of this week the following places have won flags: Basano, flag and crown; Crossfield, flag and crown; Lethbridge, flag and crown; Claresholm, flag and crown; Magrath, flag and crown; Bow Island, flag; Hanna, flag; Calgary, flag and one crown; Blainville, flag and crown; Redcliff, flag and crown; Coleman, flag and three crowns; Lethbridge, flag and two crowns; Crossfield, flag and crown; Lethbridge, flag and three crowns; High River, flag; Claresholm, flag and crown; Coleman, flag and crown; Lethbridge, flag and one crown.

RED DEER MUST NOT FAIL

Red Deer district up to night of November 8.....	$ 94,700
Objective	$350,000
Red Deer Provincial Riding	$ 58,750
Objective	$140,000

Although the armistice is now signed this is not the end. We have yet to provide for our troops until demobilization and bring them back home, which will cost hundreds of millions of dollars. We will also have to supply food-stuffs for Britain and her Allies for a long time on credit. Red Deer is away behind all other towns in the Province. This won't do. Everyone will have to work their hardest to make the Victory Loan of 1918 a success in this district.

Word came through to D. McKinnon and others between two and three o'clock Monday morning, that the armistice had been signed, and others, were quickly notified, and a number of soldiers wives quickly routed out unceremoniously the veterans, who all started in to celebrate.

At noon, according to proclamation by the Mayor, a half holiday was proclaimed, and the citizens' committee, headed by the chairman, R. B. Welliver, had all the bells and whistles of the city rung for half an hour calling out all citizens to the City square, where a mammoth procession was formed. It was the greatest procession ever seen in Red Deer.

Autos came in from the country for miles around, bedecked with flags and jubilant people. Everybody who had a flag put it up all the buildings in the city being decorated with flags, the windows and business places were covered, and everybody had a flag put it up.

The Citizens' band headed the procession, following the marshal in an auto. The Great War Veterans followed on foot, and were heartily cheered many times, then came the Mayor and City Councilors, the ministers, Senator Michener and citizens on foot, followed by the War Department and autos carrying mothers and relations of soldiers, and citizens.

Crowds lined the streets, giving the procession a hearty cheer whenever they passed.

The crowd then lined up on the city square, where patriotic addresses were delivered by President R. B. Welliver, Senator Michener, F. W. Galbraith, Rev. Brown, J. J. Gatz, M.P.P. and W. E. Payne, the latter finishing up with a gramophone speech by Sir Thomas White of the Victory Loan. The speeches were interspersed by patriotic selections.

At 10 o'clock, O. Canada, and the Maple Leaf, the singing being led by Mrs. Dave and Mrs. Locke. The Citizens' band also gave selections, including the national airs of the United States, France and Belgium.

The addresses were splendidly patriotic and were listened to with the greatest attention by the large crowd. The president asked the crowd to uncover and stand a few moments in silent benediction to our noble boys who have so nobly fought the fight to a finish. Mr. Galbraith's speech was a splendid effort, and his theme "Carry on" Mr. Michener's address was the splendid theme of patriotism and what this war means to us. Rev. Brown's theme was "You cannot fight against God and Liberty, they are bound to prevail." Mr. Payne declared that the war was over and to back up the boys by buying Victory Bonds. Proceedings closed with the National Anthem.

During the evening there was a bonfire on the city square and fireworks, the young people keeping up the celebration to a late hour.

During the evening President Welliver entertained the Great War Veterans to a supper at which patriotic addresses were given and a patriotic music time enjoyed by those present.

THE LATE MRS. JOHN BAILE

Up to the present the people of Red Deer have great reason to be thankful for the few serious cases of influenza in the community. The death of Mrs. John Baile last Saturday morning came as a shock, as it was generally believed that she was improving. Several days before her death the daughter, Miss Baile, who has been in training for a nurse in the Medicine Hat hospital, came home and with the help of Mrs. McVicar and Mrs. Alfond, cared for her mother throughout her illness. The Board of Health permitted a brief funeral service on Sunday afternoon, which was conducted by the Rev. W. G. Brown, assisted by the Rev. Gordon Matthews, of the Anglican Church, of which Mrs. Baile had been a member before her marriage, and by Brig. Hay, of the Salvation Army, Edmonton, a friend of the family. A large number of friends joined the funeral cortege to the cemetery. Other members of the family have been sick, but we are glad to say they are now improving. The most serious sympathy for Mrs. Baile and her family is felt by the many friends in city and district.

ANGLICAN BISHOP PUBLICLY GIVES THANKS FOR PEACE.

To the Members of the Church of England:

Dear Brethren—By the grace of God, who has guided our counsels and sustained and helped our armies in a service of public thanksgiving to the beginning of the dawn of peace.

Owing to the present epidemic, we are prohibited from joining together in a service of public thanksgiving. But while we cannot meet together, we can in our hearts and homes give God thanks for having crowned our efforts to maintain honor, liberty and justice. Not in vain has the blood of our men—aye, and of our women—been shed; to them God has given victory. Let us thank God for it.

I desire, as upon the ban upon public worship has been removed, that at the first service held in any of our churches in the diocese, a solemn Te Deum shall be sung not as fulfilling but as acknowledging our debt of gratitude which we can never pay. The let us show forth our gratitude not only with our lips but in our lives by planning and working that the fruits of victory may be preserved and that the houses of our nation may be a source of great glory in this war. The world acknowledges her sturdy manhood. Let us see that she stands forth a champion of unselfishness and justice.

May the blessing of God be with you all.

Yours sincerely,
H. ALLEN EDMONTON.

LONG-YATES

Dr. Long will receive the congratulations of many friends on his marriage to the Methodist paragon on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, at Armstrong, to Miss Hazel P. Yates, of Orangeville, Ont., who had been teaching in the school and had become very popular with the people there. The bride was beautifully attired in a suit of blue evening dress and had a train trimmed with blue veils, and was accompanied by Miss Annie White, the groomsmen were Capt. Courcier, of Revelstoke, B.C. After the ceremony a dainty wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride couple. The table and house being decorated for the occasion with carnations and palms. During the dinner, words of congratulation were received from friends in the east. The guests, besides the bride party, were Mrs. Jas. Long, mother of the groom, and Dr. and Mrs. MacCrosbie. Dr. and Mrs. Long will dispense with a wedding trip for the present, and have their home in Rev. Dr. Hueston's former residence, Third Avenue, East.

William Heath, who joined up with the Royal Canadian Naval reserve, at Esquimaux in September, is spending a few days with his parents before going on to do duty in the West Indies.

Miss Caldwell, who has been attending her sister at Ponoka, returned to the City Monday.

A Mr. Peterson who was ill at the isolation hospital, lost his return ticket to Lethbridge. If any one finds the ticket will they kindly leave it at this office or with the M.H.O.

The Winnipeg Free Press of November 5th, contained the announcement of the death of F. H. Drummond, at Saskatoon. He was an inspector of the Canada Accident and Fire Insurance Company. Mr. Drummond was a few years ago working in the office of the J. Malcolm Company here. He was 29 years of age and married to Miss Helen Strong, of Calgary.

ROLL OF HONOR

Mrs. Forrester received word yesterday that her brother, Roy Thompson, had been killed on Nov. 2nd. Roy joined up in the Princess Pals, and after being wounded transferred to the Royal Air Force, wherein he has met his death. The sympathy of the whole neighborhood will go out to Mrs. Forrester and the family in their bereavement.

MILITARY NOTES

John Malcolm received word a few days ago that his son, Sergt. Cliff Malcolm, had won the Military Medal for gallant service in action.

Word came through to Mrs. Page last week that Lieut. Col. L. F. Page had been wounded and passed on the 2nd of November in one of the big engagements. Mrs. Page called for particulars but received word that no further information could be obtained at present. Recently he received a second bar to his D.S.O., one of the greatest honors in the British service.

W. R. Smith, Red Deer, was reported Wednesday as killed in action. He does not belong to the families of Mayor Smith nor of Mrs. Geo. Smith, Willowdale. Mrs. Geo. Smith's son, Walter A. Smith, is in hospital in England.

Mrs. C. L. Warke, Pine Lake, received a letter from her son, Flight Lieut. Wm. L. Warke, of the Royal Air Force. He tells her he has just finished his course as a pilot and expects to return home on his leave before coming overseas. Lieut. Warke enlisted in the R.A.F. in December, 1917.

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC

The M.H.O.'s report to Edmonton on Sunday was, 7 cases at isolation hospital, three of them about to be discharged. Eighteen houses quarantined. Roman Catholic Convent under quarantine. Forty cases at Indian Industrial School. The Convent was released from quarantine yesterday.

Yesterday there were five cases in the isolation hospital, one being a new case.

Since last week there has been quite an increase of influenza cases in the city, but still the M.H.O. and the doctors have the cases well under control.

Three deaths have taken place, namely, Mrs. John Baile, Mr. Charles Poter, and Mr. Niel Nielson, Burrat Lake.

Mrs. Lackie Kennedy was very ill but she is now improving, and we do not hear of any further serious cases, although there are a number of cases which may develop seriously at any moment.

Mr. Wilbur Dudley, of Rocky Mountain House, died from influenza on Sunday afternoon.

Some citizens seem to think if a quarantine card is not posted on a house the residence is not under quarantine. As a matter of fact every householder who has influenza or any contagious or infectious disease in his home, he must, according to the Act, consider his house quarantined, whether he has a card on it or not, and whether he has consulted a doctor or not, and he is committing a breach of the Health Act by allowing persons to enter his residence.

The M.H.O. received instructions to this effect from the Provincial Board of Health.

At a meeting on Sunday of the Board of Health it was decided to have a thorough canvass of the city to find out all the cases of influenza within our borders. We understand the canvass has already taken place.

ONE BRITISH AIRMAN
FIGHTS SIXTY HUNS

Amazing Tale of Daring
Comes From Vortex of Western Front

With the Allied Armies in France and Belgium, Nov. 6.—One of the most daring and gallant deeds has been added to the records of the British air force in a battle recently fought in the Mormal forest by a British major, working single-handed in a fast scouting machine.

The major had engaged a German airplane, and almost before he realized it, was surrounded by a great flight of enemy machines, which attacked him fiercely from all sides. A battle royal ensued, which lasted about an hour, during which the British airman was attacked by successive flights of enemy planes until he had given battle to between 50 and 60.

Early in the fight the major sustained three severe and crippling wounds, one arm and both legs being rendered virtually helpless. Despite his injuries and the fact that he was almost unconscious at times, he continued to fight, until by brilliant and fast maneuvering he managed to escape to his own lines. He had destroyed four hostile planes and driven down out of control between four and six.

Once during the mad battle the major concluded he was lost and deliberately charged one Boche, with the expectation that both machines would crash and end it.

He was working his machine gun as he swept toward the enemy. Just as a collision seemed inevitable, the German machine burst into flames and dropped. The major swept over the falling plane missing it by feet.

The British airman brought back his machine in such condition that it can be repaired and will be flying shortly. He is in the hospital and will probably recover.

A SOLDIER PRIEST

(By Captain J. A. F. O'Connell)

It has been with a deep and heartfelt sorrow that his friends have read in the casualty list among the killed, the name of Lieut.-Colonel B. W. Y. D.S.O., M.C., of the Sherwood Foresters. His friends were many, for in addition to those who knew and respected him as a brave and shining officer, there were also those who knew and loved him as a priest.

Without a doubt Bernard Vann was a magnificent example of a soldier-priest, for he possessed in no small degree the essential qualities for both the profession of the soldier and the vocation of the priest. Endowed as he was with a fine physique and an immense zest for life (he had won his hockey blue at Cambridge) he seemed cut out for the military life. But, at the same time, he possessed with these robust gifts the deeper and more spiritual characteristics of a soul for souls, a tenderness of character and a passionate belief in the goodness of human nature.

He was ordained deacon in 1910 to the parish of St. Barnabas, New Humberstone and was priest in the following year. In 1912 he was appointed Chaplain at Wellington, where he remained until 1915 when he joined the army as a combatant. Of his success as a soldier it is sufficient to say that within three years he rose to the rank of Lieut.-Colonel, won the Distinguished Service Order and the Military Cross twice. The charm of his personality—he was, for example, a most engaging raconteur, ever ready with incredible stories—endured him to his regiment where he was known not only as a fearless leader but as a sterling priest, always ready to celebrate at the altar when the opportunity occurred and ever willing to help the padre in every possible way.

In the course of his military career, Colonel Vann was wounded six times. In his regiment where he was known as a sterling priest, always ready to celebrate at the altar when the opportunity occurred and ever willing to help the padre in every possible way.

He seemed to bear a charmed life. He was killed while leading his regiment in an attack on the German trenches, and both the church and the army are poorer by his death.

There remains, however, the example of his life. There are sermons, not preached by words, which are destined to live in the hearts of men and to carry their message through the world long after their author has departed this life. One feels that the life of Colonel the Reverend Bernard Vann was just such a sermon.

HUNS WOULD SLAUGHTER WORKERS IN CHURCH

London, Nov. 4.—American troops occupying a village of St. Martin Riviere on the British front, found within the bell of the Church a powerful bomb connected by wire with the monstrance on the high altar. The removal of the monstrance for benedictions must have caused the wreck of the church upon the kneeling worshippers. American engineers have prepared a report upon this attempted crime.

HUNS BOMBARDING
DEFENCELESS TOWNS

Tragic Scenes Witnessed
When Gas Shells Are Used
Against Civilians

Washington, Nov. 6.—German forces in their retreat from Belgium are bombarding defenceless towns, using especially gas shells, and devastating the countryside, according to an eye-witness account made public today by the Belgian legation.

"The Belgian government has been informed," said the statement, "by a reliable eye-witness who follows closely the operations on the Belgian front, that at the very moment that the German government announced her protest against inhuman acts, and while German offers to stop aerial bombardments in the interest of the civil population of the occupied territory, the Germans have bombarded the villages and towns which they were obliged to abandon during their retreat; they have used especially gas shells for this purpose."

Heartrending scenes have occurred, the unfortunate population having no gas masks or means of protection against these death-spreading fumes. A Belgian soldier entering Wargemme, his home town, found his wife dying and his little daughter dead, victims of the poison gas, and his home a heap of ruins. The country all around Ghent, the rich and beautifully cultivated fields and pastures, the picturesque villages of Hansbeke, Lendegem, Nevele, Leuven, Sint Martin and Trochennes, present a horrible sight of devastation and havoc. Not a church was spared from destruction.

"From these facts one may appreciate how appropriate are the humanitarian propositions and protestations of the German government."

PART OF SEDAN IS NOW
OCCUPIED BY AMERICAN TROOPS

French Forces Hurl Germans Back Seven Miles

Washington, Nov. 7.—American troops entered the French city of Sedan at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, General Pershing reported in his communication for the day. All that portion of the city west of the river Meuse was occupied.

Paris, Nov. 7.—Occupation of part of Sedan by American forces aroused keen satisfaction in Paris today because of the historic importance of the city and its association with the war of 1870. More than that, the advance of the Americans is believed to have brought about a strategic situation in which the Americans will be able to greatly harass the German retreat.

Hurl Huns Back Seven Miles
Paris, Nov. 7.—With ever-increasing speed, the French troops are forcing the Germans back north of the Aisne and on all the rest of the front, which the French are fighting over, according to the war office announcement tonight. An advance of ten miles has been made at certain points since yesterday.

British Continue Advance
London, Nov. 7.—The British troops continued their steady advance along the whole front south of Mons-Condé Canal.

French Official
Paris, Nov. 7.—The official report this evening is as follows: "Our troops continued without cessation their pursuit of the enemy during the day. On the left, we creased and went far beyond the road between Vervins and Avesnes, north of La Capelle. South of here we reached, on the west, the railway between La Capelle and Hirson, on the general line of Etray and Origny-Thierache. "Further east we are along the Thon river, an affluent of the Oise, as far as Leuze, 15 kilometers north of Rosny-sur-Serre.

"On the Aisne front we hold the general line of the outskirts of Signy Forest, Wagnon, Viel-St. Remy, Mazenay and La Horgne, realizing an advance of more than sixteen kilometers beyond the Aisne.

"On the right, in the valley of the Barre river, our advanced elements have gone beyond St. Amand-sur-Bar, gaining a footing south of the Meuse on the heights which dominate Sedan.

"We have freed, in the course of the day, 100 villages and a great number of civilians.

"Aviation: Our airplanes, working in liaison with our infantry, attacked, bombed and machine-gunned German columns in retreat, utilizing 15,000 kilograms of bombs and 13,000 cartridges."

THE DEMOLITION TRAIN

An East African Episode

(By Lieut. L. Walmaley)

It was during the great German retreat in East Africa. As we flew over their railway we could see a huge mass of their native soldiers busy destroying the bridges and ripping up the permanent way. As the long rails were detached, one by one, and suffered a train of which was always waiting just behind the gang.

We called it the demolition train, and because our troops were carrying out some special flanking operation on the enemy's left, orders were that we were not to bomb it for the present. It was, of course, an aggravating thing to see all this and be obliged to allow the Germans to work unmolested.

But one day news came in that our people had arrived at their desired position, and one of our machines was sent out to destroy the demolition train. Laden with one hundred pounds, and four twenty pound bombs, the pilot set off, and an hour's flying over a dreary wilderness of sand and bush brought him in sight of his target.

Scorning to employ the usual method of dropping all his bombs in succession in a line at right angles to the length of the train, the British pilot dived and flew down to a height of five hundred feet. The German engine driver then did a fast thing. Thinking that his sole chance of escape lay in flight, he opened his throttle, and the train began slowly to move. By this time, the British pilot was only a few yards behind, and he began to drop his bombs.

The first two fell amongst the crowd of native soldiers who were endeavoring to hide in the bush, killing and wounding several, and causing the remainder to stampede in indescribable confusion. The third and fourth fell within the engine, and the fifth, which happened to be the hundred pounder, caught the locomotive full and square. The engine lurched forward, and a terrific report, and through the dense cloud of smoke and escaping steam, a shower of twisted pipes and fragments of steel went hurtling through the air.

The momentum of heavily laden trucks carried them forward into the remains of the engine, and the crash that followed was greater even than that made by the bomb and the bursting boiler. Only a tangled mass of wreckage remained when the pilot turned for home.

The Demolition Train had been demolished.

THRILLS OF FLYING MEN WHO PHOTOGRAPH
ENEMY DEFENCES

Of all the many weapons used in this war that strike the public mind as novelties—the submarine, tanks, hand-bombing, the airplane, flame-throwing, poison gases—there is really not one so unique, so powerful and yet so little commented upon as the use made of the camera by the flying men. Three years ago the British had made no provision for aerophotography. Casual experiments with the camera before the war were abandoned as valueless. To-day never a battle and scarcely ever a raid is undertaken without an elaborate photographing of the enemy's defenses. Before the battle of Cambrai, aeroplanes soared above and behind the enemy's lines for days taking thousands of map-pictures of the territory to be under attack.

It is no exaggeration to say that rapidly as the airplane has developed under the exigencies of war, the camera and the photographic laboratory have kept pace with it. The number of trained experts in this branch of the war has increased from four to four figures. So progressive and efficient has this organization become that an observer moving over the enemy lines in an aeroplane has been known to return to headquarters, have a print taken showing troops lying in a trench, and bring shell-fire to bear on the enemy concentration within eighteen minutes from the taking of the photograph.

Thus the camera, allied with the aeroplane, has become one of the most powerful weapons now used in the war. It is a dependable, infallible informer of all enemy movements. Under the microscope the photograph reveals secrets that even the trained eye of an observer might never penetrate. And it makes a permanent record, which may be studied any time at leisure and in a place of safety. No detail escapes notice. It picks out items of great significance which no human eye can detect—reports every change in the landscape made by enemy engineers or camouflage devices. It is in attempting to pry into enemy secrets that the airman often meets his greatest thrills. Pieces of enemy military construction that arouse the suspicions of the intelligence officer must be photographed. If the construction is of any importance the Hun will have a nest of anti-aircraft guns planned and battle-plans held in readiness to drive away any British machines. Naturally it takes nerve for an airman to go out on such a mission. But it has become a point of honor with squadrons of the Royal Flying Corps to get every photograph they are ordered to get. Upon a single photograph may depend the success of a whole operation involving weeks of planning and hundreds of lives.

To be successful in this work an aviator must, of course, have courage, but he must have more. He must be efficient in map reading. He must be familiar with many tribes and tactics of flying. He must have confidence in his ability to handle his machine gun no less than his skill in using the camera. So when a cadet is being trained in the Royal Flying Corps his training covers many duties and is full of fascinating interests from day to day. They are light but quite strong enough for this dry weather and will be just the thing to wear later under an overshoe when it turns cold. A SPECIAL FOR MEN

A SPECIAL FOR MEN: A few pairs of Men's Leather Bluchers, of very reliable make. It's a line that we have sold many of and are now clearing out. Probably if we had to buy them today we would pay the manufacturer as much as $7 for them, but we are cleaning up the stock at, per pair $5.00

He wanted to wear them in bed.

We recently sold a customer a pair of Dr. Reed's Cushion Shoes; the next time we saw him we asked him how he liked them; his answer was: "I hate to take them off when I go to bed." You can't beat this, can you? If you wear them you will have no more tired aching feet, for the patented cushion insole allows them to sink down luxuriantly into it and the entire shoe conforms to every curve of your foot. The built-in cushion sole, by preventing any binding or drawing, will let your feet breathe through their pores as nature intended. They combine comfort with style and durability.

Each $5.75, or by the pair $11.50

Men's Gunmetal Bluchers and Buttoned Boots

A very, very serviceable line that you will find hard to equal anywhere else that we know of at a dollar more per pair. We are lucky in having this line at the price we are quoting. $6.00

Mackinaw Coats for Men and Boys

Just as we were about in despair about these goods, along they come by express. We don't know of anything for the money that can compare with them for warmth and comfort. They come in sizes small enough for the "Kiddies," namely in 28, right up to the big fellows who take 44. Prices cover almost as wide a range as do the sizes.

MEN'S OVERCOATS

SEE THEM—FEEL THEM—AND BUY THEM IF YOU NEED ONE. They are big, roomy, woolly, and hold a warm welcome for you. Prices $25.00, $35.00 and $37.50

Clothing for Men and Boys

We have looked through a good many manufacturers' samples of clothing lately, and we have been impressed with the fact that at the prices we are selling ours at, the buyers are reaping more profit than the seller. However, the present prices stand with us as long as these suits last. We still have men's stout wear-resistant suits, thoroughly well-made and decently trimmed to sell at $15.00—we believe they will wear like iron and would like for you to inspect them (it doesn't cost anything, and pleases us). From this price they range up to $40.00, and the selection we believe will appeal to careful buyers. We know that many of the boys' lines are selling here for less than we can buy now; it's your opportunity and you had better seize it. Boys' Knickerdicks at the old price, while they last.

MACKINAW CAPS FOR MEN

Here's something that is going to be a "best seller." They are the heaviest and warmest thing that we have seen in the way of head covering outside of fur lines. Get one when you are hauling grain to market and you will be really thankful to us for telling you about them. Price $2.75

Other splendid lines of Cloth Caps at $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and $2.50

COMFORTERS! COMFORTERS!

They are well named for there is lots of comfort in them. With the price of woolen blankets so high, we look for a big sale of them and have bought accordingly. Prices start as low as $3.50, then go to $3.95, $5, $5.75 and up to $9.50. If you wish to make your own, we have big "Comforter" bats 72 by 84 inches at $2.00 each and a lot of printed cottons on our remnant counter at "remnant" prices with which you can cover them cheaply and prettily.

THE NEWS' WEEKLY SERMON

By the REV. G. D. ARMSTRONG.

Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in Me.—John XIV, 1.

The original text is capable of several translations. It may also be rendered, "believe in God because ye believe in Me, or it may be given a double imperative, 'believe in God, believe also in Me.' These various renderings suggest various shades of meaning, but the central thought in each is that the secret of a peaceful soul is found in personal faith in God and Jesus Christ.

These words have been a source of comfort to many troubled hearts in the ages that have passed since they were first uttered, and they bear a message we may well wish to take to the time of bereavement and loss.

It is well to remember the circumstances under which they were first spoken, Jesus was speaking the culmination of His ministry of suffering, and His soul was exceedingly sorrowful. We may not understand the mystery of His Passion. There is a solitude of personal experience into which our dearest friends may not enter, and the intensity of spiritual experience is determined by the extent in which we share the divine nature.

The tragedy of Gethsemane and Calvary however, relates itself to many forms of human sorrow. We can distinguish in the sorrow of Jesus the pain of bereavement as He is about to leave the friends who had shared many of His deepest experiences. The pain of sin, as some who had been intimate with Him basely deserted Him, and as He with the sympathy of Divine insight entered into a perfect understanding of the sins and weakness of mankind. Do we not also discover the sorrow of guilt as He so closely identifies Himself with Humanity that for a moment He almost loses His sense of oneness with the Father, and unutterable loneliness seizes His soul.

Yet in this hour of testing—testing so real that it sounds the very depths of human anguish, Jesus does not despair. He emerges from the dark cloud with a message of comfort and cheer. "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. It is well for us to remember that this message of Jesus to His disciples is a distinct command against the sin of worry and the tendency to yield to the depressing, distracting influences of sorrow and loss. It is also to note that Jesus does not deny the reality of the things which trouble the soul. He does not overcome evil by denying its existence; sorrow is hard to bear; doubts are hard to clear away; but we need to ignore these things is to rob our soul of its vitality, but to surrender to them is death itself.

Jesus directs our minds to the truths that eternally endure—to the foundations of our life which never can be shaken. The existence of a personal God and the reality of the Personality of His Son, Jesus Christ. It is gratifying to know today that the words and personality of Jesus are being studied in a way which we see the folly of attempting to separate His Divinity from His humanity. Our idea of God today is determined by what we know in the light of history and enlightened spiritual understanding of Jesus' Christ.

"Following the star that lights earth's desert pathway yours and mine, At last we see, the highest human nature is divine."

We do well to note the content of this faith, as it is outlined in the teaching that follows this command of Jesus. It involves the assurance of personal immortality; the promise of unfailing power in prayer; the possession of power to realize the life of Christ and to do His work with greater efficiency in succeeding ages; the presence of His spirit in all the movements of history and the peace of His passing through suffering.

If while passing through suffering we let our souls dwell on these things which alone can satisfy the deep need of our being, we too, like many of old, may rejoice in tribulation and watch it pass, through time to catch, the far off interest of tears.

FOCH IN CHARGE, SAYS PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE

British House Cheers When Announcement of Allied Decision Is Made

London, Nov. 5.—Premier Lloyd George, in addressing the house, said he was unable to give detailed information concerning the "complete agreement" the Allies had reached on the armistice terms to be submitted to Germany.

Premier Lloyd George said that the Versailles conference had decided that Marshal Foch should be placed in supreme direction of the forces operating against Germany on all fronts. The Premier referred to the recent British successes on the western front, and assured the Chamberlain and the Jugo-Slavs that their allies intended to come to their aid as fast as they could.

Tribute to Italians
Mr. Lloyd George paid a tribute to the Italian army and to General Diaz, the Italian commander-in-chief, for the victory "which saw the final removal of a danger that had threatened the security and liberty for many centuries."

Commenting on the Austrian armistice terms, Premier Lloyd George said the most important point was that which gave the allies free use of Austria-Hungarian territory and communications for operations of war. It was that the events of the past few weeks had liberated all the allied forces operating against Turkey, Bulgaria and Austria-Hungary, and that these forces were to be used in a great converging final attack upon Germany, the full significance of the terms would be apparent.

Complete Agreement
Mr. Lloyd George said that the supreme council had considered the answer they should make to the President regarding Germany's armistice proposals, and had arrived at a complete agreement regarding the conditions, which had been transmitted to the president with a request that he inform the German government that if they wished to know these conditions they should apply to Marshal Foch in the usual military form. Loud cheers greeted the announcement by the prime minister.

Continuing, Mr. Lloyd George said that the application was made to him had been decided that the British naval representatives would be associated with Marshal Foch at the conference. Whatever Germany's reply might be, the associated powers awaited the issue with perfect confidence.

Another outbreak of cheering marked this part of the premier's speech.

THESE ARE THE MEN

Amsterdam, Nov. 5.—Gen. E. G. W. von Gruenl, Germany's military delegate to The Hague peace conference, Gen. H. K. A. von Winterfeldt, Admiral Moers and Admiral Paul von Hintze, former secretary of foreign affairs, have been appointed members of a committee to deal with the Allied powers on armistice negotiations.

THE MOTHER

It was one of those tearful little villages on the Somme, where scarce one brick stands upon another, but where still, by some strange freak, the gardens bloom perennially with all their gorgeous flowers. Pansies are there, and marguerites, and geraniums—but always there are roses, such a profusion of roses.

It was, then, in such a village as this that we met the old French woman. We had come from the line, and the outgoing battalion had told us that there was one civilian left—an old woman. We saw her soon enough. She came round the cook-houses, humbly, self-effacing, imploring, but with an air! She asked but a few crusts of bread when we should have finished our meal. We filled her a mess-tin with "stoup" and she thanked us with a full, courtesying and smiling as though she were some grande dame receiving a favor at the hands of a king.

Two days later I say her at home. She lived in the cellars of a little house of whose history there was nothing but the cellars left. She recounted me, and gave me a pretty welcome. "Would I not like to see her garden?" I went in that to say, if you call it "garden" when one steps over a single wire six inches from the ground.

It must have been a beautiful garden. Now, like that of God's smith's schoolmaster, it was running wild in a profusion of weeds and flowers. Dandelions and pansies grew side by side. Black and white currant bushes were bearing fruit. Here and there one caught the rose gleam of a strawberry. There were many other flowers which I cannot name, for I have no great botanical knowledge.

One thing, however, caught my eye. Near the house, in a neat knot free from weeds, were two rose bushes bearing beautiful blooms—one red, one white. I think she must have noticed me looking at them.

"Ah," she said, "M'sieu admires the roses? But they are sweet. They are roses, and they are white. I have not seen them since you left me. Good boys they were, M'sieu, and dutiful sons. Each week they sent their old mother money in peace money. And then came this terrible war.

INTERESTING NEWS OF THE RED TRIANGLE

With music and "movies" the Y.M.C.A. is out to conquer the monotony and isolation of the lumber camp on Queen Charlotte Islands, where aeroplane spruce is being manufactured for the government.

A combined hotel and recreation hall has been erected at Thurston Harbor, reports Mr. D. E. Hatt, the Y. Secretary for the Moresby Island group of camps. The building is 32 x 32 feet two stories, with cottage 32 feet, quarters for the secretary, and shower baths. Upstairs are four small and one large room to be used by transients. Mr. Hatt has charge of the building and he meets the boats which arrive at night and early in the morning.

During August the score or more camps and sawmills of the Masset district were visited three and four times by the Y.M.C.A. secretary. Mr. G. R. Welch His addresses on patriotic, moral and religious lines were well received, and the literature he distributed, including pamphlets, was eagerly welcomed.

At headquarters at Buckley Bay, a tent has been set up and equipped, and this will fill the bill until permanent quarters can be secured.

"German rifles played an uncomfortable part in the erection of the first school building over set up on a battlefield," said Capt. (Rev.) V. Gilmour to an interviewer on Saturday, Capt. Gilmour, who is visiting Toronto with a view to securing educational supplies through the agency of the Y.M.C.A. for the Canadian University overseas, referred to that branch of the soldiers' college known as "Vimy Ridge University."

"Nearly 10,000 students have registered with the Khaki University in England," declared Capt. Gilmour, "and in one district alone in France there are 15 schools in operation, with twenty instructors and a registration of 600. In the Forward Area there is one school with an average attendance of 18. This Area has 16 libraries in operation and the number of books loaned is well over 3,000."

A few days ago it was reported that the Canadian Y.M.C.A. was the first to establish a 'Y' Hut across the Hindenburg line. Today there are ten Canadian Y.M.C.A. branches in and through that famous defensive system, writes Capt. N. Best, of Hamilton, recently arrived in France. "Out in the temporary summer camps the 'Y' takes a big place in the hearts of all ranks, for its work is really essential to the general well being of the troops. In these segregation camps, particularly, this work is appreciated the more because the men are not allowed out until danger of contagious diseases is eliminated. Consequently athletics are popular, canteens and reading rooms, correspondence tents, concerts, lectures and religious meetings are all crowded. There are 15,000 Canadians in this Bourley Area alone. Last night the big tent blew down where I was to speak, but I climbed upon the platform that was left and spoke to over a thousand men in the open. It was great to see them and to hear them cheer, but it was greater far to have them crowd around for a personal word at the close."

ALLIES DON'T REGARD APPEAL SERIOUSLY

Bolshevik Authorities Not Recognized as the Government in Russia

Washington, Nov. 5.—Efforts of the Bolshevik authorities to discuss the withdrawal of the Allied forces from Russia, through negotiations for armistice, are attracting no serious attention here. The associated nations do not recognize the Lenin and Trotsky regime in any way, and have explained today that if the Bolsheviks wanted negotiations they should address the Russian government at Omsk, the only authority in Russia which the United States and the Allies deal.

Officials said today it was safe to assume that the forces of the United States and the Allies will not be withdrawn from Russia until an orderly government has been established there.

VALUE OF ADVERTISING.

Advertising is the modern way of selling goods. Nationally advertised goods are the life-saver to the retailer. The farming community has been educated to it. The farmers are beginning to expect it, and yet the retail merchant who has been in business for any length of time knows practically little or nothing about writing copy; first, because he knows little or nothing about the science of salesmanship. He has the conception that advertising is selling goods at a cut price; his local competitor has been educated to that belief, and has not learned that salesmanship is selling goods at a profit, and that advertising is salesmanship on paper. Is it any wonder that such a lot of merchants failed last year?

FOR THE CURE OF PNEUMONIA

The following was handed in by a subscriber:
Take six or ten onions according to size. Chop fine, put in a large spider over a hot fire. Add the same quantity of rye flour and elder vinegar enough to make a thick paste. Stir well constantly and simmer five or ten minutes. Then put in a cotton bag, large enough to cover the lungs and apply to the chest as hot as the patient can bear. When cool apply another and thus continue by reheating the position. Within a few hours the patient will be out of danger. Three or five applications are usually sufficient. Always warm time, however, until the perspiration starts freely from the chest. This recipe never fails when applied in time, and cures when physicians fail.

The Bank will trust you

Perhaps you never had an account in a bank—maybe you've never done business in a bank—hardly even cashed a cheque in one. But—that is no reason why you cannot go to a bank and borrow money to buy Victory Bonds.

If you are a steady, industrious, thrifty citizen, working and saving a part of your income, you are just the kind of person Canada's chartered banks stand ready to help to-day.

Any bank will lend you as much money as you can save during the next twelve months, with which to buy Victory Bonds.

All you have to do is to pay ten per cent. of the amount you want to buy and deposit the receipt for that ten per cent. in the bank.

The bank will lend you the 90 per cent. balance at 5½ per cent. interest and will give you a year to repay it, the interest you get on your bond being just the same as the bank charges you.

This is a fine opportunity for you to begin a real savings account, to make a first class investment and to help your country at the same time.

Why not see a banker to-day—he will tell you all about it and you will be glad of the advice and help he can give you.
